

Kentucky Learning Depot Launch

<http://kylearningdepot.org>

November 17, Tuesday, 2009

1:00 – 3:00 P.M. EST

Council on Postsecondary Education

Conference Room A

Frankfort, KY

- 1:00 – 1:30 Welcome & Remarks
- Robert L. King, President, Council on Postsecondary Education
  - Felicia Smith, Associate Commissioner, Office of Teaching and Learning, Kentucky Department of Education
  - Phillip Rogers, Executive Director, Education Professional Standards Board
  - Mac Wall, Executive Director, Kentucky Education Television
  - Wayne Onkst, State Librarian and Commissioner, Kentucky Department for Libraries and Archives
  - Nancy Jarett, Director, Public Affairs, AT&T
- 1:30 – 1:45 Launch & Live Demo
- Depot Steering Committee & Work Teams
- 1:45 – 2:00 “The Florida Orange Grove Repository - OnCoRe Blueprint and the Legislatively-Mandated Textbooks Plus Initiative” – “Develop and operate a central instructional content repository that allows faculty to search, locate, and use instructional resources, including open-access textbooks.”
- Elizabeth Johnson, FIPSE Grant Coordinator, Florida Distance Learning Consortium
- 2:00 – 2:50 “No Stopping This Train: How Web Technology Is Revolutionizing Education”
- Dr. Curtis J. Bonk, Professor of Instructional Systems Technology, College of Education, Indiana University (<http://mypage.iu.edu/~cjbbonk/>)
Author of “The World Is Open” - Building on Thomas Friedman's book, The World is Flat, Curt Bonk offers an intriguing look at ten technology trends which he calls educational openers. When combined, the first letter of each opener spells the acronym: "WE-ALL-LEARN".
- 2:50 – 3:00 Cake & Punch
Drawings for Dr. Bonk's books & Depot user accounts
Hands-on Depot searching available